ABSTRACT

This report provides data on withdrawal and success rates and grades earned in fall 1993 at the five campuses of Pima Community College (PCC), in Arizona. First, information is presented on the following areas: (1) successes and withdrawals by campus and district-wide, indicating that the Community campus showed the highest percentage of successes (75%) and the lowest percentage of withdrawals (21%); (2) district successes and withdrawals by ethnicity, indicating that Asians had the highest success rate and Native Americans the lowest; (3) district successes and withdrawals by gender, revealing higher success and lower withdrawal rates for females than for males; and (4) district successes and withdrawals by age group, indicating that students over 40 showed the highest percentage of passing grades at 78%. Appendix A includes tables showing the number and percent of grades awarded for fall 1989-93 district-wide and by campus, indicating that in fall 1993, 33% (n=25,489) of the grades awarded were "A's," 20% (n=15,274) were "B's," 11% (n=8,573) were "C's," 2% (n=1,815) were passes, 3% (1,974) were "D's," 25% (n=19,637) were withdrawals, 3% (2,104) were "F's," and 3% (n=2,091) were incompletes. Finally, Appendix B provides tables on the district-wide numbers and percentages of grades awarded in fall 1993 by ethnicity, gender, age, veteran status, Pell grant status, and occupational and non-occupational classes. # Analysis of Fall 1993 Course Grades

This report summarizes Pima Community College's (PCC's) Fall 1993 distribution of course grades. Grades are categorized by successes and withdrawals for the district, as well as by campus, ethnicity, gender and age groups. Fall 1993 course grades are also compared with those from previous fall semesters. In addition, the tables in the appendices provide a comprehensive comparative analysis of course grades by district, campus, student characteristics, veteran status, Pell Grant status, day/extended-day status, and occupational/non-occupational classes.

Total successes are defined as the sum of A, B, C, P, and D grades. Total withdrawals are defined as the sum of W's (official withdrawals) and Y's (general withdrawals), designating neither success nor lack of success.

District successes and withdrawals by five year summary

Appendix Table A1 shows the number and percent of grades awarded district students from Fall 1989 through Fall 1993. Successes and withdrawals have remained comparatively constant at 69% and 25%, respectively.

Successes and withdrawals by campus

Graph 1 and Appendix Tables A2 through A6 display the percent of Fall 1993 total course grade successes and withdrawals by campus. Students at the Community Campus earned the highest percentage of successes (75%) and the lowest percentage of withdrawals (21%). Conversely, the Downtown Campus students obtained the fewest successes (64%) and the highest percentage of withdrawals (29%).

Graph 1. Percent of Fall 1993 Total Course Grade Successes and Withdrawals by Campus

District successes and withdrawals by ethnicity

Graph 2 and Appendix B1 display the percent of Fall 1993 total course grade successes and withdrawals by ethnicity. Asian American students earned the highest percentage of passing grades (73%) and obtained the lowest percentage of withdrawals (22%). Conversely, the lowest success rate (58%) and highest withdrawal rate (34%) were obtained by Native Americans.

Graph 2. Percent of Fall 1993 Total Course Grade Successes and Withdrawals by Ethnicity

District successes and withdrawals by gender

Graph 3 and Appendix Table B2 display the percent of Fall 1993 total course grade successes and withdrawals by gender. Women obtained a higher percentage of successes (71%) and lower percentage of withdrawals (24%) than men. Men achieved a 66% success rate and withdrew from 28% of their courses.

Graph 3. Percent of Fall 1993 Total Course Grade Successes and Withdrawals by Gender

District successes and withdrawals by age groups

Graph 4 and Appendix Table B3 depict the percent of Fall 1993 total course grade successes and withdrawals by age. In general, as student age increased, the percentage of successes increased and the percentage of withdrawals decreased. Students under 20 years of age, however, earned a slightly higher success rate (66%) and lower withdrawal rate (28%) than did students between the ages of 20 and 29. The latter age group showed a 65% success rate and 29% withdrawal rate. Students between the ages of 30 and 39 succeeded in 75% of their courses, while withdrawing from 21%. The highest success rate (78%) and lowest withdrawal rate (18%) were obtained by students over the age of 40.

Graph 4. Percent of Fall 1993 Total Course Grade Successes and Withdrawals by Age

Veteran Status, Pell Grant Status, Day/Extended-Day Classes, Occupational/Non-Occupational Classes

Appendix B contains the tables referred to in this section. Table B4 shows that in 1993, veterans had a higher success rate than non-veterans (74% vs. 69%). Pell grant recipients (Table B5) had a higher success rate than students who did not receive Pell grants (71% vs. 68%). Table B6 shows that the percentage of successes for students enrolled in extended day classes (71%) was higher than those in day classes (68%). Lastly, Table B7 shows the success rate for students enrolled in occupational classes (75%) was higher than the success rate for those enrolled in non-occupational classes.

Summary/Conclusions

The overall success and withdrawal rates have remained relatively constant over the past five years. Students at the Community Campus earned the highest percentage of successes while Downtown Campus students obtained the fewest successes.
